WHAT CIRCLE DOES

- Sleuths resources created by or for Adventist education
 - Joins every open Adventist education forum or newsletter to build networks globally
 - Scans every known Adventist publication relating to education to connect locally recommended resources
 - Monitors research databases to link to all research on any aspect of Adventist education
 - Edits submissions, makes entries, and communicates new resources through newsletters
 - Continually sifts out deadlinks and old resources to best serve busy teachers
 - Adds new website tools to make finding and sharing resources easier from anywhere in the world

- CIRCLE exists solely to increase access to what is created by and for Adventist educators – a focused investment
- CIRCLE is not owned by any institution, equally interested in supporting all
- CIRCLE acts as a collaboration facilitator, able to neutrally network globally

Only possible, thanks to the NAD Office of Education's consistent funding 1999-2012
