

Opportunities for Time and Eternity

The teachers in our schools have a heavy responsibility to bear. They must be in words and character what they wish their students to be,—men and women that fear God and work righteousness. If they are acquainted with the way themselves, they can train the youth to walk in it. They will not only educate them in the sciences but train them to have moral independence, to work for Jesus, and to take up burdens in His cause.

“Teachers, what opportunities are yours! What a privilege is within your reach of molding the minds and characters of the youth under your charge! . . .

“Let us work for time and for eternity. Let us work for the youth with all the powers God has bestowed upon us, and He will bless our well-directed efforts.”

—Fundamentals of Christian Education, pp. 90, 91.