A. CONVENTION PRESENTATIONS THROUGH CIRCLE

Extend the value of your NAD K-12 Teacher Convention break-out session in Aug 2006 by sharing your presentation and recommended resources through CIRCLE.adventist.org. Save paper and reduce luggage by making all materials available at one click to session attendees, those who wished they could attend, and Adventist educators around the globe. Create a specific CIRCLE section to organize all your session's resources. If you have a webpage organized for this purpose already, thank you for sharing just that URL. To be online by August 6, email documents to CIRCLE by July 25. Updates may be possible from our exhibit (booth 719) and changes are welcome at any time afterward. Contact us for more information or to get started today.

B. BANNER ADVERTISE ON CIRCLE

CIRCLE connects the unique market of 65,000 Adventist teachers and education administrators serving 1,500,000 students around the globe. Increase exposure to your product or program before the K-12 Teacher Convention in August 2006 with a banner advertising campaign on CIRCLE.adventist.org.

Since launching in 2000, CIRCLE has steadily expanded, linking educators to quality resources for Christian education anytime, anywhere. Teachers, teacher educators and education administrators share documents, links to publications, media productions, software, online articles, lesson plans, excellent supplier websites and more. Several banner options are available at affordable rates. Read our ads brochure online or contact us to start a campaign today.

D. AU EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION ORIENTATION CREDIT

Because prospective students often want to know more about a program before they commit, we are inviting anyone interested in learning more about our Educational Administration program to attend our weeklong face-to-face summer orientation in Berrien Springs, Michigan from July 10-14, 2006. This one credit course will review the requirements for Educational Administration, allow you to get acquainted with the faculty, and introduce participants to the philosophy and structure of our programs. This includes online learning, our portfolio and mentoring components, and online resources. If you decide to apply to one of our degrees or certification programs after completing the orientation, you will already have completed one of the program requirements. For more information, visit www.educ.andrews.edu/EdAdmin/, contact Janet Ledesma at (908)797-3790, janetledesma3@aol.com, or email edadmin@andrews.edu.

E. STUDENT HEALTHY LIFESTYLE CONTEST EXPANDS

Be sure to come by booth 315 at the NAD K-12 Teacher Convention in August. There are lots of changes in the format of the Student Healthy Lifestyle Contest that you will not want to miss. The scope of the subject matter for the contest has been greatly enlarged and should have a broader appeal. Get an early start on the next contest and put your school on the map. See you in Nashville. Reg Burgess, NAD Health Ministries
